MASSACHUSETTS BEER 'N' BOOZE GIFT GUIDE

Craft Beer Cellar Beer Geek Sweatshirt ($45)

Come winter, beer geeks need something besides Imperial Stouts and free beer fest volunteer t-shirts to stay warm. Craft Beer Cellar's cozy beer geek sweatshirt does just that, as well as proudly announce one's geek status.

Beer Lover's New England by Norman Miller ($19.95)

After gorging on a Christmas feast (of beer) let local beer columnist Norman Miller, aka the Beer Nut, read you to sleep, via his thorough guide to New England's best beer bars, breweries, brewpubs, and so much more.

Bully Boy American Straight Whiskey ($34.99)

Bully Boy, Boston's own distillers, just released their first aged spirit in time to get into the holiday spirit. It's an American Straight Whiskey, made with corn, rye, and malted barley, aged in new American Oak barrels, and delivered to you just in time to slip something strong in Santa's glass.

Boston/Southie Maps Rock Glass ($25/pair)

Take that abovementioned Bully Boy Whiskey, and pour it over rocks in this glass from The Uncommon Green, etched with a map of Boston for the full local boozing experience. Make it super-meta and get the Southie glass, where Bully Boy is based.

Membership to Night Shift Brewing's Barrel Reserve Society ($250)

Designed like a farm's CSA (community-supported agriculture) program, Everett's Night Shift brewery offers the drinker a chance to take support to the next level. A $250 up-front membership cost includes a bounty of beer harvest: seven barrel aged beers (two of each for 14 total bottles), two exclusive drinking glasses, one t-shirt, and two tickets to an end-of-the-year barrel society bash.
